

TRIPLES PING PONG

T3 Triples Ping Pong set to make a special appearance at The World Championship of Ping Pong in Alexandra Palace 4th and 5th January 2014

Bouncing straight into the New Year, Triples Ping Pong brand T3 announced today that their revolutionary circular table ping pong table will be exhibited at the annual World Championship of Ping Pong, held at Alexandra Palace in January 2014.

The triples (3-a-side) version of ping pong, up until now, only played in Australia, was invented in New Zealand in 1979; six players compete in two teams of three around a circular table. Its unusual design and specially constructed nets are the foundations of a game which can be fast and fierce. Triples ping pong allows players a far greater range of shot directions, exciting angles and longer spectacular rallies. The table can even accommodate 12 players if required (3-a-side with one ball in play or 6-a-side with two different coloured balls in play).

Ally Pally will become host to the world's 64 top Ping Pong players for a two-day tournament, as they battle it out live on Sky Sports for the $100000 prize fund. Using traditional sandpaper rackets, the World Championship of Ping Pong is a throwback to the early days of table tennis and aims to catapult ping pong into the big league and onto the international television stage. Hailed as "the future of ping pong", T3 Triples Ping Pong will be there to provide an interactive element to the day, as members of the audience will have the chance to try out this sporting innovation for themselves.
